Light Minded, or Roberto Affuso, stands out for its approach which reflects his attention to new technologies without ever moving away definitively from the past. Playing since the nineties, in 2009 he became the art director of Switch, electronic music party based in Bologna, and now the co-founder of Switch Music Recordings, a record label that crosses the deepest techno as well as the most delicate electronic vibes.

Kana (Andrea Guerrini) was born in Bologna in 1981. His personal research aims at exploring music as a possible spiritual fuel. The instability of grooves and melodies wants to create a stream where it is possible to dive and navigate with closed eyes. Repetition is mutilated, loops are truncated. Mistakes, glitches and drone-like dilated atmospheres draw an idea of music as communication, expression and personal research.
